

CHAIRMAN MARK

Managing Director of SPACE the design practice, Mark Hilferty, has been invited to chair the plenum session at the inaugural Cruise Ship Interiors & Systems Expo in Barcelona at the end of January 2006. This is a new event on the cruise sector calendar, aimed at the designers and suppliers who create the interiors of the world's cruise vessels and the systems which make them operate. It differs, therefore, from the other annual cruise events in that it is specifically focused on interiors and does not attempt to cover every aspect of shipbuilding and operations

Mark is a well known speaker at events, particularly in the cruise sector, and has participated in Seatrade, Cruise + ferry, Project and other maritime conferences over the past 12 years. He also contributes articles and opinion pieces to a wide range of global publications on a regular basis, most recently a major 2-parter in Maritime Reporter on the relationship between the USA and the UK in terms of passenger shipping, 'Hands Across the Ocean', and a preview of the Cruise Ship Interiors Expo in their publication, entitled 'The View from Space'.

SPACE is currently working on the final stages of the interior design concept for Fred. Olsen Cruise Lines' latest addition, 'Boudicca', which is now in the early stages of refit following takeover of the vessel at the end of October. The SPACE team has collaborated with colleagues at Wow Design to create some powerful CAD visuals of the public areas on Boudicca for use by Fred. Olsen Cruise Lines in their marketing and publicity material. By the time Cruise Ship Interiors Expo begins, Boudicca should be in the final stages of her transformation, prior to the commencement of the inaugural season on 25 February 2006
